PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is with great joy and gratitude that I welcome you to our 21st Annual Black Tie Gala Dinner Dance. This is a year of transition for CMM with a new executive Board of Trustees. With the continued support of all our members we have been able to fulfill our mission of serving those in need, in underserved communities both in New Jersey and throughout the Caribbean.

This summer, we collaborated with The City of Newark Caribbean Commission and Ghana Association for Medical Aid to offer healthcare screening services at the Health and Wellness Event at Heritage Festival at Mulberry Commons Park Newark, New Jersey.

Our medical mission this year was to Dominica in June. This medical mission had a collaboration between CMM and Dominica Ministry of Health, Wellness and Social Services, Dominica Cancer Society, Dominica Diabetes Association and the Rotary Club of Dominica. It allowed both the CMM and the Dominica Healthcare Team to work together, to provide care to all the patients in the district served that day. The districts served included Grand Bay, LaPlaine, Portsmouth, Roseau at Newton Health Center and Wesley at the Emelda James Health Center. First time members to our team were Dr. Natasha Chinn an Obstetric/Gynecologist and Dr. Brenda Boatswain a psychologist who provided much needed gynecologic and mental health services to the Dominica population.

Tonight, we will honor a pioneering physician on whose shoulders many of us stand today. We are very proud to honor Dr. Kendell R. Sprott, a pediatrician who is dedicated to advancing pediatric healthcare and advocating for children through education, community service, and professional leadership. Our keynote speaker, who is also our community service honoree, is Dr. Kamal Khan. He has worked for many years with the Undergraduate students at Rutgers University to assist economically disadvantaged and underrepresented minority students.

Our communication honoree is Jeff Sargeant, a well-known radio host, producer and community activist. CMM have a very hardworking and committed fundraising committee who works tirelessly to ensure the success of not only this evening's event, but all CMMs fundraising endeavors.

We offer our sincere gratitude to all our dedicated and loyal supporters, for all your generosity that enables us to fulfill our mission to serve the needy. To our guests and supporters have a wonderful evening.

Donna Hutton-Cassie, MD, FAAP
President

FUNDRAISING CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

Dear Dr. Hutton-Cassie,

Thank you for the kind invitation to the Caribbean Medical Mission's (CMM) Black Tie Gala Dinner Dance Fundraiser. Please accept my sincere regret that I will not be able to participate in this year's event, but I will support in all other ways possible. I have contacted our Honorary Consul in Philadelphia, Mr. Christopher Chaplin, and I am happy that he has confirmed his representation of the Government of Jamaica.

We are pleased with the impactful work that CMM continues to do not only for Jamaica, but for our Caribbean neighbors. I have shared my further congratulations for your Commemorative Ad Journal and wish you every success with your Black Tie Gala Dinner Dance Fundraiser event.

Souvenir Journal Message
From
H.E. Audrey Marks
Ambassador of Jamaica to the United States of America

On behalf of the Government and people of Jamaica, I extend warm congratulations to the Caribbean Medical Mission (CMM) of New Jersey on your continued commitment to providing essential healthcare services to communities across the Caribbean.

For over twenty-five years, CMM has exemplified the true spirit of service and solidarity, making a profound impact on the lives of those in need, both locally and internationally. Through your annual healthcare missions, you have worked tirelessly on the frontline, addressing critical health challenges and partnering with healthcare workers to uplift communities. From Jamaica to Guyana, Haiti, St. Vincent and the Grenadines, and most recently, Dominica, your unfaltering dedication to advancing public health is commendable.

Your efforts, such as the recent Men's Health & Wellness Health Fair and partnerships with organizations like the Jamaica Nurses Association, have brought life-saving education and early detection services to those most vulnerable. Your generous contributions, including mammogram funding for the Jamaica Cancer Society and medical supplies for Jamaica's Prospect Health Center, have left an indelible mark on Jamaica.

As you continue your noble work, please know that the Government of Jamaica deeply values and appreciates your contributions. Your mission not only addresses immediate healthcare needs but also fosters long-term sustainability and hope for a healthier future.

Once again, congratulations on your remarkable achievements, and I look forward to witnessing the continued success of the Caribbean Medical Mission.

Dr Kamal Khan

Dr. Kamal Khan is the Director of the Office for Diversity and Academic Success in the Sciences (ODASIS)—an academic support unit within the School of Arts and Sciences at Rutgers University—as well as an Associate Professor for the Department of Africana Studies and the Division of Life Sciences at Rutgers. For over 35 years, Dr. Khan has dedicated his professional career to undergraduate instruction and academic development in efforts to increase and retain the number of underrepresented and economically disadvantaged students who wish pursue majors that lead to careers in the allied health professions.

Dr. Kamal Khan brings to his position a professional degree in medicine. His mentorship and excellence as an administrator and advisor are based on his dedication to student advancement in the sciences and his commitment to demonstrate the effectiveness of support programs for underrepresented and disadvantaged students. Known for his signature phrase, “EAT YOUR BOOKS!” he believes that “in order to motivate a student you need to build a rapport with the student that consists of trust, relationship and confidence.” A Rutgers alumnus himself, he is known for his “tough love” for the students, which is exactly the kind of attitude that encourages students to go on to professional health education. With his support, the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC) ranked Rutgers University #17 out of 103 schools in number of African-American applicants to medical schools and #45 out of 144 schools in number of Hispanic/Latino applicants to medical schools. Jefferson Sergeant “Jeff Sarge”

Jefferson Sergeant is the host and producer of the long-running, award-winning radio show Reggae School Room, which has been airing for 40 years on 91.1 WFMU FM and online at wfmu.org. Over the years, Sergeant has hosted major reggae events and conducted interviews with some of the genre’s biggest names, including Junior Gong Marley, Cat Coore of Third World, Burning Spear, Beres Hammond, and Alton Ellis, among others.

Known affectionately as "Jeff Sarge" by his thousands of listeners, he has made significant contributions to his community, especially through his work with the Orange Kickers soccer team. As a coach and mentor, Sergeant ensured the young players were well-prepared, even going as far as providing them with proper nourishment before practices, showing his deep care for their overall well-being.

A proud graduate of Rutgers University, Newark, New Jersey, Sergeant holds a bachelor’s degree in sociology. While at Rutgers, he has fond memories of playing soccer under the late President Burman Saunders, MD of the Caribbean Medical Mission of New Jersey, who served as team captain.

After graduating, Sergeant pursued his passion for music, immediately diving into the industry. He toured across the United States and Europe as the manager of the reggae band Calabash.

Sergeant draws inspiration from his late parents and brother, who greatly influenced his life. He believes every day you should have a good laugh, even if it means laughing at yourself. Today, he continues to mentor aspiring radio hosts and music producers, generously sharing his vast knowledge of music and major event promotion.
